Charged with Murder; Married Again

Mrs. Susan B. Thomason, under indictment for conspiracy to murder her husband, J. S. Thomason, traveling salesman, who was shot to death on the afternoon of December 4th, 1919, on the streets of Lexington, by James Welch, Fayette county farmer, was married to Joseph Wearren, of Lexington, in Newport Thursday, it was learned Tuesday.

Mrs. Wearren was called at her home, 400 Woodland avenue, and verified the report. She declined to state the occupation of her husband and would make no statement further than that the ceremony was performed in Newport and that she was accompanied by her sister, Mrs. W. R. Baker, 202 Arlington avenue.

Mrs. Wearren was indicted by the grand jury on a charge of conspiring to murder her husband and is at present out under bond of $5,000. Trial of her case, which was docketed for next week, was postponed to the September term of the Criminal Court to allow the Court of Appeals to pass on the appeal of James Welch, who was sentenced in April to life imprisonment for the murder of Mrs. Wearren's former husband. Welch was also indicted jointly with Mrs. Wearren for conspiring to murder Thomason. He is in the county jail.

This is Mrs. Wearren's third marriage. She was first a Mrs. Lewis and after separation from her first husband married Mr. Thomason.

She is the mother of two children.

Oregon Voters Ask Johnson to Bolt

More than five thousand signatures were obtained to a petition circulated in Oregon Tuesday asking United States Senator Hiram W. Johnson to repudiate the platform adopted by the Republican National Convention in Chicago and to announce himself as an independent candidate for the Presidency, according to a telegram sent to Senator Johnson by W. B. Adams, Portland attorney.

Mr. Adams said he did not represent any Johnson organization that had heretofore existed, but that his telegram was sent in behalf of the many supporters of Senator Johnson in the recent Oregon primary election.

"We heard that similar petitions were being circulated in New York," Mr. Adams said, "so we started them here in Portland. So far the petitions have been circulated only in Portland, but we plan to send them throughout the State."

Adams said he and the group with which he is connected will continue to circulate the petitions until Senator Johnson declares positively that he will not be a candidate for the Presidency on an independent ticket.

LOST

About 30 days ago I lost out of my trunk a very heavy brown tarpaulin, which was used as a tent cover. I lost it near the corner of Clay and Sycamore and it was seen by reliable parties lying on the edge of the pavement, but by the time I had gotten there to get it, someone had moved it. It is worth $50.00 and is the property of R. M. Montjoy, who needs it badly to complete his tent.

I have received some information about it, and am now hoping this notice will be the cause of its delivery without further embarrassment.

Marshall Not in the Presidential Race

That the Republican leaders are less well pleased with the nomination of Senator Warren G. Harding, of Ohio, for the Presidency yesterday than they were last Saturday, was declared by Vice President Thomas R. Marshall on his arrival at San Francisco to attend the Democratic convention.

The vice president added that he was not a candidate for the Presidency, but was about to retire from politics. He declared the Republicans were in error if they assumed the election of Senator Harding was a foregone conclusion and that President Wilson did not seek a third term, but could be nominated and elected for one if he did.

Of Senator Harding's candidacy the vice president said:

"The Republicans are not so well pleased now as they were on Saturday night. Personally, I have high regard for Senator Harding. I would do anything for him except vote for him. The Republicans are making the mistake of their lives in thinking of the November election as a foregone conclusion and of the Democrats as a disorganized, defeated party. They are going to find us very much alive in November."

Mr. Marshall deplored lavish expenditures of money in connection with presidential campaigns. It was disheartening, he said, adding that he regretted the "Republicans were not the only guilty ones."

Of the Democratic convention and his own part as a delegate in it, the vice president said:

"I am here to promote peace and good will among the Democrats at this coming convention."

He said so far as the convention was concerned, "there is no Irish question" and of prohibition enforcement he declared: "Nothing is so detrimental to the country as the passage of laws and the ignoring of those same laws."

Cox Boom Swells Due to Nomination of Harding

The nomination of Governor James M. Cox for President by the Democratic National Convention, looked on with favor for several months, has now become a necessity in the opinion of party leaders. Aside from the legislative and executive experience of the Ohio governor and his ability to give the country a business administration, qualifications unsurpassed by any other Democratic candidate, leading figures in the Democratic ranks are impressed with the need for carrying Ohio, a pivotal State, and "Cox can carry Ohio," is a slogan.

When asked when he was in Lexington recently to name the Republican against whom he could wage the best campaign for the Presidency—this was before the Chicago convention—Governor Cox replied promptly "Harding."

Having an intimate knowledge of the Ohio Senator, his abilities and limitations, Governor Cox picked him as a candidate over whom a victory in Ohio is considered a certainty.

James E. Campbell, Governor of Ohio thirty years ago, and prominent in political circles for half a century, in a letter addressed to delegates to the San Francisco convention, and received by Kentucky delegates, expresses the need for nominating Governor Cox for resident. He declares:

"Governor James M. Cox can carry Ohio. What other candidates can match this certainty with even a probability?"

Kentucky delegates to the National Convention, twenty of whom are instructed to vote for Governor Cox, with the practical certainty of the adoption of unit rule in the selection of the nominee, will take an active part in the aggressive campaign to be waged in behalf of the Ohio Governor.

Desha Breckinridge, delegate from the State-at-large, and Senator Thos. A. Combs will join the "Cox-for-President Boosters' Special" at Dayton, O., leaving Lexington Saturday morning.

Several delegates to the convention have started already to California. A majority, however, will be in the party headed by Col. P. H. Callahan, of Louisville, leaving Chicago the night of June 28th.

Senator Johnson N. Camden, National Committeeman from Kentucky, who was Governor Cox's campaign manager in Kentucky, left yesterday for Kansas City on a business trip. He will be joined there by W. O. Davis, business associate and vice chairman of the Cox campaign in Kentucky. They expect to arrive in San Francisco June 22. Senator Camden is a member of the Committee on Arrangements for the convention, which will hold a meeting on June 22.

The Cox "Boosters Special," which will be one of the first big trains to arrive in the convention city, will

Salvation Army's Final Appeal

On account of weather conditions the Salvation Army Campaign has been extended through the month of June. On Monday, June 21st, there will be a committee to receive contributions from those who have not had an opportunity to give to this great work. This will be the last call this year. Every one knows the great work of the S. A. and by giving liberally on this last appeal Montgomery County may be able to come up with other counties in raising her quota, the S. A. may be able to do more effective work by not having to take their time to pass the tambourine collection box, but instead give their entire time to the Army's activities. Vice President Marshall in speaking of the S. A., says, "I am for the S. A. The problem of this age is to believe that men are mutually helpful to each other and that men have mutual interest in each other. Toward the total solution of it, all religious organization in America will contribute, but I know of no organization which will stand back of men and human kind better than the Salvation Army."

follow a route permitting stop-overs at most of the principal points of interest.

ABOUT GOVERNMENT BONDS

Panama bonds issued by the U. S. government some years ago, that are bearing two per cent. interest, are quoted in the commercial money markets at slightly above par. And yet the same money markets are quoting Liberty Bonds below par, some around the 90 mark. And this gives a little food for thought. The holders of the Panama bonds know that while the interest is small they are absolutely sure of that interest, and they know that their principle is as sure as time and tide. Now, exactly the same security lies behind the Liberty Bonds—the entire wealth of the richest nation this old earth has ever known. And the Liberty Bonds bear interest at more than double the rate of the Panama bonds. It is a psychological problem, pure and simple. The people just know that government bonds are the best investment in the world, but they have not learned to look on the Liberty issues with that same feeling they did on previous issues. Yet one is as good as the other, while the returns to the investor on the Liberty issues are far more advantageous to him.

NORTH MIDDLETOWN HORSE OWNER SUES RAILROAD

Allie G. Jones, well-known horseman of North Middletown, Bourbon county, filed suit in the Bourbon Circuit Court Monday against Walker D. Hines, as agent for the President of the United States, and the Louisville and Nashville Railroad, asking for damages in the sum of $1,000 for injuries to a car of thoroughbred horses which Mr. Jones shipped to the Louisville State Fair last fall. The petition claims that due to the negligence of the railroad employees in switching the car and bumping it, several of his horses received severe injuries. Two of his thoroughbreds, Lady Beautiful and Xalapa Queen, were badly injured about the legs.

BOND OWNERS NOT LOSERS

(From St. Louis Globe Democrat of May 21st)

A story from New York says: "The drastic decline in Liberty Bonds has caused a loss to the investment public of more than $2,500,000,000 on a total of $22,000,000,000 purchased." This is a theoretical fact, but an actual untruth. There has been no such loss. In fact, there has been no loss at all to any bond investor who has kept his bonds. Only those who have sold them have suffered losses, and that does not include even half the bond holders. It would not include more than the small per cent. forced to sell in order to get badly needed money if wrong impressions like the above were not abroad. If every bond bought by the American people were put on the market today at present prices the loss would be the sum stated above. But every bond is not on the market, therefore the above statement of loss is untrue. To the investor Liberty Bonds are worth today every cent paid for them. They will be paid in full at maturity and in the meantime the full interest will be paid regularly twice a year. That is what the government promised and that is what it is doing and will do. Every purchaser of a Liberty Bond who bought it with the intention of keeping it as an investment and is so keeping it has not been hurt a dollar by the decline in the market price. This fact cannot be too strongly impressed upon the minds of bondholders who may be led to believe that their bonds' as a permanent investment are not as good as when they bought them and thus rush them to the market for sale. To do that would not only be to sacrifice needlessly a part of their value, but it would tend to depress the market to still lower points.

Secretary Houston has called attention to this fact, that no bondholders who are holding their bonds is suffering from the low market price, that full interest is paid regardless of the market value and that the bonds themselves will be paid in full at maturity, with the best security in the world back of them, that of the whole American people. He also calls attention to the fine investment bonds present at the present market prices. One who buys bonds at present rates not only draws full interest regularly, but at maturity will receive as profit the difference between par and the price he paid. Large investors are taking up the bonds deceived small holders are letting go because of their belief in the stories of the great losses they have already met by the decline

TENANTRY IS AWFUL IN THE LARGE CITIES

There is no doubt that a change must come in home-owning in this country if the mass of our people are to be true blue, patriotic American citizens.

It has long been a matter of serious alarm that tenantry was increasing in the country. We know that a tenant cannot have the complete interest we would like him to have in the soil he works and the buildings he uses. Ownership alone gives the real interest that makes for continued fertility of his land and for upkeep and improvement of farm house and farm buildings.

It is the same, only with a different twist, in the cities. We have not greatly agitated ourselves about them, however, because we have carelessly felt that tenantry was the natural thing in the cities. But if it is the natural thing, it shouldn't be.
The man with a five-room house and a lot 40x125 is a good deal different sort of a citizen of this republic to the man who rents. Ownership counts.

Think, ye home owners, of the situation in New York City, of the 6-100,000 residents, only 300,000 own their homes, or less than 5 per cent.
That 5 per cent. is interested in good,
orderly, patriotic government for obvious reasons. How many of the other 95 per cent. care about those things?

Some men are so tough Young Feller, that their conduct is taken as a matter of fact, and no one even gossips about them.

Any bachelor would rather hold a 110-pound girl for two hours than hold a 10-pound boy for two minutes.

Forbidden fruit is still a costly commodity, but there are still Edens
of innocence and paradises of purity
being swapped for an apple.

Shall Farmers Combine?

Consumers will view with concern
the course of the bill in Congress permitting farmers to combine for collective bargaining. The consumer will ask why farmers, rather than manufacturers, merchants, lumber dealers, coal mine operators or others should be made the beneficiaries of a law permitting efforts to establish prices by combinations
and agreements.

It is true that farmers have been
and now are, at a disadvantage.
They cannot tag their produce as merchants tag their articles and commodities and offer for sale at a profit the products of their labor and their land. They must produce for a market over which they exercise no control and the fluctuations of which they cannot foresee and guard against. Just now, farmers assert, beef cattle and hogs are produced
at a loss, as against selling the feed
that goes into their making and employing otherwise the labor that is devoted to feeding them. There is also an admitted shortage of agricultural labor and admitted inability of farmers to bid against factories,
mills, mines and other enterprises,
dollar for dollar for labor.

The possibility of actual shortage of food, the certainty of reduction of volume of agricultural production are everywhere the topic of discussion. The question, therefore, is what to do to stimulate production.

It has been argued that the best means of stimulating production would be to decrease the spread between prices at the farm and prices
to consumers; to give the agricultural producer more of the consumer's dollar, the sundry middle man less of the consumer's dollar. It is said that the farmer gets more of the consumer's dollar in countries in Northern Europe, which export large quantities of food from limited acreage. We are importing butter from Denmark, a country with an area
a little above one-third of the area of Kentucky. We soon may be, investigators say, importing large amounts of food from other countries not because we lack fertile land to produce a large volume of agricultural commodities for export, in addition to a full supply for domestic use. Something is wrong if this is a probability. That something is that opportunities for profit in agriculture in America are not attracting the young men by comparison with opportunities in cities.

Laws to permit and encourage the farmer to combine to establish prices
will be regarded by consumers as well meant measures beginning at the wrong point and leading in the wrong direction. Effective, and generally adopted, collective bargaining of agricultural producers might increase the margin of profit, as well as the farmer's financial capacity to pay,
therefore to procure, labor in competition with urban enterprises. But with the existing system of distribution between the consumer and the farmer the increase of prices at the farm would be more than absorbed between original markets and deliveries to consumers. Prices of food would be materially increased.

Here the effort to better the lot of the farmer would lead into the familiar vicious circle of increasing prices of food and increasing demands of urban wage-earners, depletion of farm labor by reason of those demands being met, increase of prices of implements, machinery,
tools, supplies, bought by farmers.

Granting power, under the law, to combine to increase prices at the farm, seems the lawmaker's "easiest way," rather than a real and satisfactory solution of one of the great problems of the period. It is easily argued that the farmer, a laborer-
producer, or merchant-laborer, should have the right of collective bargaining if laborers have it. There is hardly an answer to the argument that something must be done to restore the economic balance between town and country if the food supply is to be maintained. But the consumer has before him lessons
upon the effect of effective collective bargaining of labor upon commodity prices.

The consumer has "seen" a "raise"
whenever the effective collective bar-gainers have raised their prices. He has sat in the game with diminishing chips. The proposal that farmers be encouraged to combine to raise the prices alarm him. He would rather see the farmer get more, the middle man less, of what food now costs,

than see the farmer get more in circumstances that would cause a raise of prices all along the line from the stockyards and grain elevators to the butcher shops and groceries.

As the consumer sees it the great difference between the price of what farmers sell and what consumers
buy represents cumbersome and costly processes which might be simplified with the result that the producers might get more of the consumer's dollar; with the result that more men would want to become agricultural producers. Some of them, perhaps, might be released for agricultural production through lessening
of the man power engaged in distribution.—Courier-Journal.

ADDING-CALCULATING MACHINE

Every Retail Merchant
needs a 10-Key Dalton

No piece of equipment can be made to mean so much to a retail merchant as a simple, fast figuring machine like the Dalton.

To handle successfully "the detail of retail"—the merchant must have a means at hand to assemble figures quickly. "What are my outstanding accounts, how much have they grown in the past thirty days?"—
this is a typical business question.

The smaller the business, the more valuable and necessary are figures. Every possible loss must be avoided. Clerks must have means to verify items of sale,
frequent inventories are vital to successful management. Income tax reports must be accurate.

Tens of thousands of merchants today
use the Dalton. It requires no special operator. Any clerk can and will use it because of its simplicity—only 10 keys—one for each figure. And it checks in-voices and does all things a calculating machine can do because it multiplies as easily as it adds.

Phone for Demonstration

You can have a Dalton brought to your store,
have a demonstration, use it yourself, secure information from other merchants who use it, upon request without any obligation. A phone call to this effect will secure our courteous attention.

ABOUT GOVERNMENT BONDS

Panama bonds issued by the U. S. government some years ago, that are bearing two per cent. interest, are quoted in the commercial money markets at slightly above par. And yet the same money markets are quoting Liberty Bonds below par, some around the 90 mark. And this gives a little food for thought. The holders of the Panama bonds know that while the interest is small they are absolutely sure of that interest, and they know that their principle is as sure as known. And the Liberty Bonds bear interest at more than double the rate of the Panama bonds. It is a psychological problem, pure and simple. The people just know that government bonds are the best investment in the world, but they have not learned to look on the Liberty issues with that same feeling they did on previous issues. Yet one is as good as the other, while the returns to the investor on the Liberty issues are far more advantageous to him.

NO RELENTING

Someone, because we did not say in a former issue, we would go out and get up an amended petition asking for the submission of a bond issue to the people of Montgomery County that it appeared to them that we are weakening on this Good Roads matter of so vital importance. Our language cannot be so construed and on the contrary, we are willing to again put this matter over by the renewed efforts of the masses who favor the construction of Good Roads now. We do not pose as a leader in this matter, just one of the great common people upon whom it devolves to do. A number have responded to our article of warning of last issue and we are expecting the required number and more, who of their own accord will come in and make the petition good without any effort. Good Roads are a necessity and additional argument as to immediate action in order to receive State and National aid is necessary. Montgomery business men know the time to act is now, and we stand with the active business men, ready with shoulders to the wheel.

WANTS TO RECONCILE

The nominee of the Republican party for the presidency is now making it his business to heal all ruptures. To this end he makes some political promises. Down here the political way would term this movement, "Some Bull." Following is his way of it:

Secretary of State—Elihu Root or Philander C. Knox.
Attorney General—Charles Evans Hughes, of New York.
Secretary of the Treasury—Frank Vanderlip.
Secretary of War—Leonard Wood or Lindley M. Garrison.
Secretary of Agriculture—Senator Capper, of Kansas.
Secretary of Labor—Senator Kenyon, of Iowa.
Postmaster General—Will Hays, of Indiana.
Secretary of the Navy—Former Senator Weeks, of Massachusetts.
Secretary of the Interior—Governor Lowden, of Illinois.
Secretary of Commerce—Herbert Hoover, of California.

WE'LL BE GLAD TO SEE YOU

Monday is Court Day and we drop this word to our subscribers to notify them that they can secure the Twice-a-Week Advocate any time from now to July 1st at $1.50, which will pay for a full year's subscription. Monday will be an opportunity to do this and save 50 cents on subscription, for beginning with July 1st the subscription price of the Twice-a-Week Advocate will be $2.00 per year.

PITHY POLITICAL POINTERS

(By Irep)

Blaine had his Burchard; Harding has his Butler.

Republican Harmony — You're a liar, says former Presidential candidate Leonard Wood to former Presidential candidate Nicholas Murray Butler.

William Cooper Proctor, of Cincinnati, is a clean man, too clean to indorse the action of the Republican convention in "steam-rolling" Wood and Johnson and deceiving Lowden.

Negro women are said to be in revolt against the Republican Presidential ticket because no negro woman was sent as a delegate to the National Convention or placed on any of the committees to conduct the campaign.

It is a bad omen for the Republicans to nominate a man whose name begins with an "H." Hayes was defeated by Tilden, Harrison by Cleveland and Hughes by Wilson.

Senator Kenyon, of Iowa, said: "I am disappointed." "The convention was strong for Roosevelt, he being dead." "If Roosevelt had been alive he would have had about as much chance in the convention as Johnson. If Johnson had been dead he probably would have had as much condolence as Roosevelt."

Senator Lenroot says he will stump for Harding and Coolidge, but adds "The Progressives are dissatisfied with the Republican presidential ticket."

A wise platform, with an able and good candidate like McAdoo or Cox assures success for Democracy at the polls in November.

Not a line in the Republican platform about freedom of Ireland, yet the Republicans will try to fool the Irish into supporting their ticket. The Irish are smart, therefore, not easily fooled.

Politicians of the stand-pat Republican stripe like Penrose, Hert & Co., think they can kick the Progressives as hard and often as they like and they will still vote the Republican ticket. We shall see.

TEACHING THRIFT TO CHILDREN

(By Charlotte B. Eldridge, Savings Division, U. S. Treasury Department.)

The parents and teachers of every child wish him to have the benefit of greater advantages than they have had. That is one of the reasons why parents often make great personal sacrifices to educate their children for more congenial work than they themselves have enjoyed and interest in his pupils is one of the few compensations for the trials and insufficient financial returns of a teacher's career.

To make the principles of thrift effective to the child, they must be put into constant practice both at home and in school and must have a direct connection with his daily life.

Every educator realizes the tremendous value of teaching thrift and industry to little children both for their immediate benefit and in anticipation of their future success. Parents who have not had a training in personal economy are anxious to have their children realize that the practice of thrift and an appreciation for the value of money are essential to success and self respect. Thrift principles enter into every relationship and problem of daily life.

Training in economy is equally necessary for the child of parents in poor or moderate circumstances and for those who are rich. In our complex American life it is possible that the poor child of today may be the rich man or woman of tomorrow, and that the child born with a silver spoon in his mouth may sometime be thrown upon his own resources.

It is never too early in a child's training to begin the teaching and practice of thrift. Tales of the habits of animals and insects furnish many examples of this quality. The simple story of the red squirrel will interest any child. Tell him that before cold weather begins the red squirrel builds a comfortable and durable home, that during the summer and fall he gathers nuts and acorns to provide food for the winter time when snow covers the ground. Contrast the habits of the spendthrift rabbit, who saves nothing and who consequently suffers from hunger.

The thrift and enterprise of the bee and the ant may be contracted with the laziness of the grasshopper and the butterfly. The Book of Proverbs and Aesop's Fables contain many a story which shows the stupidity of extravagance and laziness.

Thrift may also be taught by the careful use of materials in the school room by economy in handling chalk, clay, paper and other articles, and in the home by careful use of furniture and by the elimination of waste in household necessities such as food, fuel and light.

In every walk through the streets to and from school, material for consideration presents itself. The example of the fire department, a source of interest to every child, may be used to show how loss of life and property is prevented. The public cans for rubbish are another public economy, for by their use we decrease the duties of the street cleaners.

The means of practicing the principles of thrift are numerous. Children may be encouraged to buy the government Thrift Stamps issued by the United States Treasury, or to have accounts in Postal or Savings Banks. Through these channels the systematic saving of money may be brought home to the child in an attractive and profitable way, and the sums so saved conserved and invested. Americans have been called a nation of economic illiterates. They are spendthrifts by habit. It may not be possible to eradicate the vice of extravagance in this present generation, but it can be stamped out of the boys and girls of the future by continued instruction.

The influence of economy is far-reaching, and instruction in thrift is a personal, a municipal, and a patriotic duty, which both parents and teachers owe to the children, the community and the country.

House Party

Mr. and Mrs. H. I. Greene are entertaining a house party for the weekend at their country home on the Grassy Lick pike. Their guests are Misses Henrietta Coleman, Mary V. Robertson, Katherine Howell, Mildred Ragan, Mary Craig and Dorothy Tyler.

Mrs. Hart's Luncheon

Mrs. A. Sidney Hart was hostess at a beautifully appointed luncheon today at her lovely home on North Maysville street. Her guests were: Mrs. W. P. Oldham, Mrs. F. W. Bassett, Mrs. Charles Highland, Mrs. Alice Gillaspie, Mrs. Wilmet Prewitt, Miss Annabel Brough, of Florida; Mrs. Judson Anderson and Miss Mary Anderson.

Swimming Party

After the swim, supper was served, picnic fashion. Mr. and Mrs. Stofor's party included: Mr. and Mrs. Robert Howell, Mr. and Mrs. Will Howell, Miss Rogers, Miss Dorothy Tyler, Miss Henrietta Coleman, Miss Mary Craig and Messrs Frank Wyatt, Joe Conner, Rex Hall, Robert Turner and Dawson Brother.

Mrs. Howell Entertains

Mrs. Clayton Howell was the gracious hostess to her bridge club last night, entertaining at her lovely suburban home. Miss Lizzie Prewitt Coleman won the prize, a bridge score and pencil, and a deck of playing cards. After the game Mrs. Howell served a most delicious plate lunch. Her guests were: Mrs. Percy D. Bryan, Miss Lizzie P. Coleman, Miss Eliza Harris, Miss Allee Young, Mrs. Charles T. Hazlett, Mrs. A. M. Pulaski, of Detroit, Mich.; Miss Suzette Johnson, Mrs. John Speer, Mrs. J. C. McNeal, Mrs. Joe Brown, Jr., Miss Bess Shackelford, Mrs. S. M. Whitehead, Mrs. John Winn, Mrs. John W. Burbridge and Miss Ella Priest.

Annual Grandmother's Party

This afternoon at her beautiful home on North Sycamore street Mrs. J. W. Prewitt entertained in honor of the grandmothers. The home was beautifully decorated with roses of native varieties, and if a trained artist had been imported from the flower gardens of Europe not one thing in the arrangement or the blending of colors could have been added. Then, there were the grandmothers, not has-beens, but women of today. Of course there were incidents of interest narrated, personal observations, but the happy party had a vision of the future and each one present knew her part in coming events. The evening was one of joy. Not a wall flower present. Mrs. Prewitt and her helpers know how, and did entertain to perfection.

CONTROVERSY OVER M. M. I. BEING BROUGHT TO FOCUS

The much talked of purchase of the property of M. M. I., at Millersburg, by the Bourbon County Board of Education, with the end in view of establishing a graded high school, came to a head Saturday when a communication signed by several hundred of Millersburg's citizens was presented to the County Board of Education, with a proposition that the citizens of that place would furnish $22,000 if the county would give $31,000 to purchase another site for the high school. By this proposition the town would be able to preserve the M. M. I., which has for years under the management of Professor and Mrs. C. M. Best, been one of the leading educational institutions of the State, and at the same time have a high school there.

The matter was discussed behind closed doors by the Board of Education. The result of the vote taken was as follows: For the proposition, D. C. Lisle, Reynolds Letton and W. E. Cook; against W. L. Cantrill, Charles White and W. R. Tuttle, a tie vote. County Superintendent of Schools, J. B. Caywood cast the deciding vote against the proposition.

Further action by the citizens of Millersburg is expected in the near future.

FOR GOVERNOR OF ILLINOIS

We are in receipt of a paper from Hume, Ill., stating that friends from all over the State are besieging former Congressman Frank O'Hair, of Paris, Ill., to make the race for Governor of that State. Congressman O'Hair is a nephew of Judge G. B. Swango, of this city, and one of the most gifted and popular public servants of his State.

KENTUCKY CROP REPORT

With numerous reports of very short acreage, heavy abandonment, thin stand, and damage by Hessian fly, Kentucky's wheat crop now promises 5,825,000 bushels, compared to a prospect early in May for 6,143,000 bushels, according to the June crop report, issued jointly today at Frankfort and Louisville by State Commissioner of Agriculture W. C. Hanna and H. F. Bryant, Kentucky field agent of the U. S. Bureau of Crop Estimates. Last year the final yield in Kentucky turned out 12,029,000 bushels, while the 5-year-average, 1914-18, inclusive, was 10,316,000 bushels. The greatest cut in acreage and the heaviest damage apparently occurred in Western and Southern Kentucky.

Oats are doing fine on a good acreage, except where too badly drowned out in a few places. The condition is 92 per cent. of normal and the acreage about 431,000, indicating a production of about 10,706,000 bushels, compared to 9,900,000 bushels one year ago.

Rye shows a condition of 83 per cent. of normal. With about 53,000 acres in the state to be harvested for grain this indicates a production of approximately 629,000 bushels, compared to 744,000 bushels last year.

Barley acreage in Kentucky this year is about 12 per cent. less than in 1919, due chiefly to increased barley tobacco acreage. Practically all the barley in Kentucky is grown in the Blue Grass counties. Condition of barley is 90 per cent. of normal, indicating a production of about 95,000 bushels.

Most meadows have made good growth, though some sections are poor or very weedy, and some of the first cutting of alfalfa was damaged by rain. Condition of clover is 89 per cent., with the acreage about 12 per cent. less than in 1919, due chiefly to high prices of seed and to winter-killing. Alfalfa condition is 90 per cent., due chiefly to freezing out. The acreage is about 10 per cent. less than in 1919.

Apple prospects are good in most sections, the average being about 71 per cent. of a crop. Peaches are about 78 per cent. of a crop, while pears are about 63 per cent.

Pasture in most sections averages fair. All work and crops are very late. Much plowing, corn planting and tobacco setting still being done. Truck crops are growing well now, but melons were severely checked by cold, wet weather in May. Blackberries promise a bumper crop practically all over the State.

Tobacco—The first report on tobacco will be made early in July.

The Advocate, twice a week.

FOOD DANGERS AHEAD

In Washington some people have been suggesting that, in order to reduce the cost of foodstuffs, an embargo be placed on exportation of grain and meats. Do these people not realize that the moment the price of farm products is driven down below the cost of production the farmer will steadily decrease his cultivated acreage and hasten the day when a food famine, greater than the public has any conception of, will be upon us?

It is absolutely certain that this year's food products will be very short. The winter wheat crop is 33 per cent. short of last year's yield, and the rye crop shows, by present indications, about the same decline. Other crops will be short, for the labor is not available for the cultivation of as much land as was formerly given to food products.

We have ignored the farmer's needs. We have yielded to the demands of industrial workers for an eight-hour day and given them steadily advancing wages, and we have told the farm laborer that by quitting his job and coming to the city he can cut his hours of labor almost in half and at least double the amount of wages received.

Does anybody suppose that the farm laborer under these circumstances, is going to stay on the job?

Can anyone imagine that the farmer boy will continue to work with the drudgery of farm life from day-break to dark when, by leaving the farm he can get twice as much pay for half the hours of work, and then have all the allurements of city life.

which appeal so mightily to the young?

And then, when one talks about an embargo on shipments of foodstuffs, does he realize that the farmer will have something to say on that subject and will demand his rights so that no embargo shall be placed on his product unless an embargo also be placed on cotton and iron and steel and lumber and everything that we are now exporting? What is sauce for the goose will be equally as good sauce for the gander.

He who talks about an embargo on the shipment of farm products in order to reduce the cost of foodstuffs for the American people is only arguing in favor of a famine or food which would stagger the nation. Let us face the facts squarely and honestly.

For many years, due to the trend of the population from the farm to the city, there has been in evidence a decline in the per capita production of food, and the end is not yet in sight. We are facing a very dangerous food situation, and the best brains of the nation should be concentrated upon the development of agriculture that it may be made a prosperous as merchandising and manufacturing in the city, so that the farm laborer may get as high wages as the city laborer, relative to the cost of living, or otherwise we soon will reach a point when we shall have to search the world for food to add to our own scanty production. And yet we have a soil which in extent and fertility ought to be able to feed five times our present population, but it will not feed our existing population unless the country soon comes to a realization of the whole situation and ceases to fight a profitable price for the farmer, and, on the contrary, does all in its power to make farming profitable, to lessen the burden of farm life, to add to the comforts of the farm, and in that way help to turn the tide back from the city to the country. In that is our only safety.—Manufacturers Record.

Sometimes when wisdom settles in a town the neighbors won't call and a freeze-out soon takes place.

Ever notice how interesting a bore can be when he devotes his conversation to boasting you?

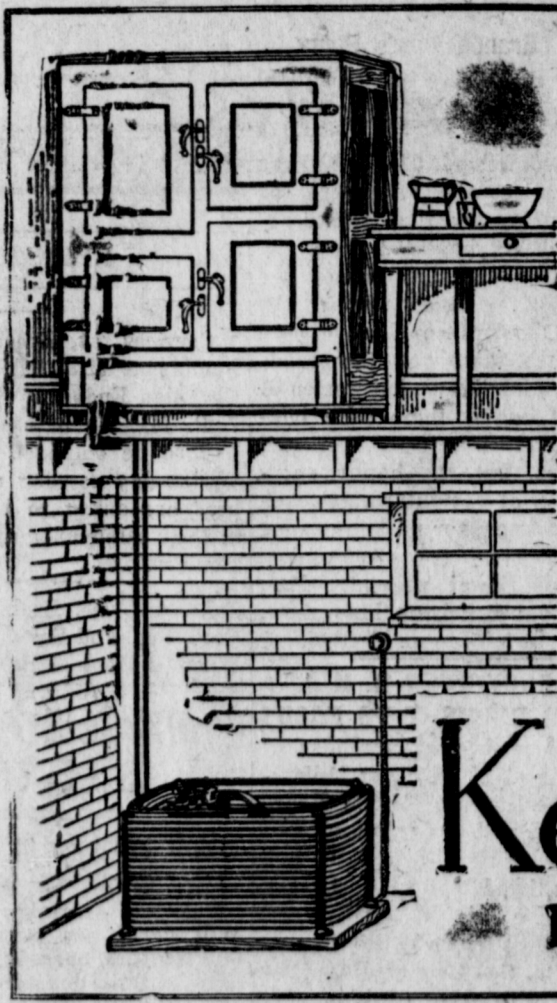

It took the Volstead act to make the prescription popular.

A jury gave a judgment of $25,000 against an Eastern restaurant man who served a paper of tacks in a bowl of oxtail soup set before a physician. The doctor has a punctured inner tube and a lot of other troubles and may never be as good as he once was. People run up against some new form of tax every day, but when a man gets a paper of tacks in his chowder, the iron enters his soul. There are several points to this.

And the fact that your wife isn't over 30 will not keep her from talking like sixty.

Iceless Refrigeration

ELECTRICITY has won its crowning household triumph—domestic refrigeration.

Year by year you have seen this clean, noiseless, reliable servant applied to one household operation after another. A few years ago you were delighted with your first Electric flatiron with its steady heat and easy control—later on came the Electric vacuum cleaner making light, quick work of housecleaning—and in rapid succession followed the Electric toaster, washer, sewing machine, and ironer. Each one eliminating from household work its portion of toil and worry. And now—KELVINATOR—the Electric Cold Maker is here to work a modern miracle in your own refrigerator.

Kelvinator

Refrigerates Without Ice

KELVINATOR goes into your own ice box producing a fresh, crisp, dry, clean cold that circulates through your refrigerator like a mountain breeze—successfully preserving your food and delicacies in a way that ice cannot approach. KELVINATOR keeps your refrigerator at a temperature colder than ice can possibly maintain—steady and unvarying.

This steady, unvarying temperature is automatically maintained by a thermostat control that vigilantly guards not only your food and health, but your pocket book as well—for KELVINATOR produces more cold only when cold is required.

KELVINATOR once installed requires no raw materials for its operation. To Kelvinate your food and to supply your table with cakes of pure, clean ice, one thing alone is necessary—Electric current—and very little of that.

KELVINATOR relieves you of one more household responsibility—the responsibility of watching your ice supply. You will be enthusiastic when you see the one we have on display. Write for booklet, it tells all about KELVINATOR.

WHICH CLASS FOR YOU?

Generally speaking, there are four classes of individuals:

1. The one who must be told what to do, how to do it, and checked up in the doing of it.
2. The one who must be told what to do, how to do it, but who is so thorough as not to need to be checked up in the doing of it.
3. The one who must be told what to do, but who is resourceful enough not to need to be told how to do it, and who is so thorough as not to need to be checked up in the doing of it.
4. The one to whom a general policy may be given, and who is resourceful enough not to need to be told what to do or how to do it, or to be checked up in the doing of it.

The cost of this remark to the railroads in unfavorable legislation, rate-making, and government regulation cannot be estimated.

Mr. Business Man Use Your Home Paper

A slick guy with a smooth line of talk, greased hair, pressed pants and a big card printed in three colors seems to be an excellent combination to separate business houses from $3 to $10 for box space on a pastboard card after the afore-mentioned slick guy tells you it is advertising. Don't believe it. It's charity. He has no interest in your community or your business. His sole and only interest is your money and you will find him perfectly willing to add one lie to another to enlist your interest for he will not see you again after he has cleaned up on the town and taken the train out.

Sometimes it is a thingamajig that he is going to hang on every telephone in the county, sometimes it is a hotel directory and other times it may be some new Wallingford folder that will gain the attention of even more conservative business men. They have an excellent line of talk, these fellows. They have to have, for that is what they live on. Every hear of a business man who had to enlarge his store or of a town that doubled its trade territory as a result of this kind of advertising? I never did and I do not believe that one of the slick guys did either.

But I know of several towns that have made phenomenal progress and of thousands of others that are being boosted as a result of advertising through the home town paper. And they keep right on boosting whether you advertise in it or not. Did you ever stop to think of the number of editors of home-town papers that are giving their life's work to printing the interesting things and everyday happenings that bind the community spirit and interest and create a spirit of loyalty and devotion to the home town that holds support and brings business to your doors? And that fool editor keeps right on doing it whether you put your advertisement in the paper or not.

Why? Because it is his business to grind out a paper that people want to read. And they read it whether your ad appears or not. If your ad is not there, they will read some one else's ad.

Got all the business you can handle—don't need to advertise? Don't fool yourself. One of the big packing houses spends $500,000 a year just to keep its name before the public. They have more business than they can handle now, but they know that if they withdraw their advertising it would not be long until they had less than they could handle. All of which is by the way of indorsing a little item that appeared in the Cotton Plant Democrat a short time ago:

"A real slick pull-the-cork-under advertising slicker was in the city Monday, working a church directory scheme. The last we saw of him he wanted a sheet of red cardboard to put out a state hotel directory on. He said that it was a little hard to get it started here, but after he got the bank and a few others, the rest of them were easy. He had us figure on the printing, but said our price was too high, although he admitted that our price was about right. He said he was going to take the work over into another county where there were eight papers, all doing work cheap and starving to death. When a schemer of this kind comes along, using the churches, both white and colored, to promote his schemes, it is time for the business man to call a halt."

The interesting thing in this item is that the editor was not "beefing" about not getting the advertising himself. He probably has not got all the advertising he could take care of, either. If the business man wanted to waste his advertising fund on a game as old as the gold brick and three card monte game, he is willing to let them live and learn, but he does not want to see his churches swindled.

Human nature is a complex, puzzling thing after all. That editor of the Cotton Plant Democrat would be branded by his home town people as a traitor to his community if he bought his clothing and groceries of a mailorder house and did his banking in another town. And yet, the slick guy who calls his pretty cards

"advertising" fills them up from top to bottom. And the editor uses only a bit of his space to make mention of the fact in a patient sort of way and keeps on boosting his town.
